

Round 2 — “Everyone’s a Suspect”

10:00 PM – 11:00 PM

Scene: Everyone’s inside. The party is over. The host opens, then turns the players loose to talk to each other. Move, pair off, trade alibis and secrets in conversation. Yes-and rule: if someone asks you something not on your card, play along; make it up consistent with your character.

- Your alibi: “I wasn’t even HERE until midnight! Porta potty emergency in Pittsburgh!” Pull out your phone, show texts and call logs. Defensive immediately.
- Share in conversation:
 - When Rosa or Nadia mentions you came in the back way at 9:45, go pale. “I... it was closer to the parking lot.”
 - Wave the giant Pittsburgh receipt at anyone who questions you. Don’t draw attention to the Comic Sans or the date — let someone else catch it.
 - If asked about Dex, give him a look. You’ve got history but neither of you planned to admit it.
- Seek out: Gloria (briefly — you owe her, and she knows), Dex (try not to look like you know each other).
- Crack porta potty jokes to deflect tension. Nobody’s laughing.

Your reaction when Sunny stands up (federal stakes — around minute 20)

When Sunny drops the corporate persona, opens his padfolio, and produces the federal badge and the printed indictment list — when he announces he’s IRS-Interpol and Paloma was his informant who was going to testify against everyone in the room on Monday:

- Your line: “Aw, hell.” Say it out loud. The room should hear you.
- After the line, stop cracking jokes. The receipt isn’t going to save you on this one.
- When Sasha steps forward and hands Sunny the sealed envelope, watch it land. Don’t speak again this beat.