| READ BEFORE THE PARTY

1. Your Costume

Female | Late 40s Crisp linen blouse or wrap top. Tailored resort pants or midi skirt. Wedge sandals or nice flats. Pearl or gold stud earrings. Designer tote. Reading glasses on a chain.

Vibe: On every board and committee at the country club, simultaneously.

2. Your Props

Linen tote bag, insulin pen (label "INSULIN"), reading glasses on chain

3. Your Character

Who You Are: Female | Late 40s | SUSPECT (THE KILLER)

You look like you chair the PTA. Linen dress, perfect blowout, understated jewelry. You ask about people's families, remember their kids' names, and speak so softly people lean in to hear you. You bring deviled eggs to potlucks and serve on charity committees. Nobody suspects the soccer mom from suburban Tampa.

YOUR 3 SECRETS

1. You run a cartel operation spanning Florida and the Caribbean. The soccer mom thing is a cover. You're a serious mid-level operator — drugs, money laundering, leverage. Several people at this party work for you whether they know it or not.
2. You ordered Irina to poison Paloma's shirt. You gave Irina a slow-acting toxin and told her to lace Paloma's dress shirt through the hotel laundry. The shirt was the plan — remote, deniable, cold. But when you saw Paloma still alive at 10:25 PM, you went yourself with the insulin pen.
3. Your son Diego was killed two years ago because of Paloma. She fed bad intelligence to a rival cartel. Diego was 22. She called it "cost of doing business." You've been planning this since the day you buried him.

YOUR ALIBI

You were in the conference room all evening with Gerald Finch and Lorraine Chu, discussing tax strategies. They'll both confirm — they owe you favors. In reality, you stepped out for about ten minutes around 10:25 PM through the side exit. Three minutes to the service area. You found Paloma. You finished what the shirt started. You were back before anyone questioned your absence.

YOUR CONNECTIONS

- Marco — Your son. Nobody knows. You placed him at this hotel. You'd do anything for him.
- Diego — Your firstborn. Dead. The reason you're doing this.
- Irina — Your operative. She follows your orders because you pay for her mother's medical care and her daughter's school.
- Dex — Former fixer. You have leverage over him.
- Pam — Your genuine best friend. She doesn't know about the cartel.
- Doug — He launders money for you through his porta potty business.
