| READ BEFORE THE PARTY

1. Your Costume

Female | Late 40s Sharp blazer, tailored pants, understated jewelry. Professional polish. Looks like she just stepped out of a boardroom.

2. Your Props

Business cards ("Chu Wealth Management"), clutch purse

3. Your Character

Who You Are: Female | Late 40s | MINOR CHARACTER (Not a suspect)

Wealth manager from Vancouver. Polished, professional, visibly nervous tonight. You specialize in helping high-net-worth clients move assets across borders — legally, you insist, though the line gets blurry at conferences like this. You were in the conference room with Gloria and Gerald all evening, which seemed routine at the time and now feels like a trap.

WHY YOU'RE NOT A SUSPECT

You were in the conference room from 8 PM onward, confirmed by Gerald and hotel staff. You didn't leave. You didn't do anything — except cover for someone who did.

WHAT YOU KNOW (REVEAL THROUGH CONVERSATION)

- You were in the conference room with Gloria and Gerald Finch all evening. Gloria was composed, attentive, and completely in control of the conversation.
- Gloria stepped out for about ten minutes around 10:25 PM. She said she was going to the restroom. You didn't question it at the time. Now it feels significant.
- You owe Gloria professional favors and you're terrified to contradict her story. If pressed, you'll try to minimize the absence. But if the pressure gets real, you'll crack — probably after Gerald does.

- You noticed Gloria checking her watch repeatedly throughout the evening. Three times in ten minutes around 10 PM.

QUESTIONS YOU CAN ASK

- To Gloria, nervously: “Gloria, should we... should we tell them about the break? I mean, it was just a restroom visit, right?”
- To Gerald, privately: “Gerald, what do we say? Do we stick to the story?”
